STEPHEN NPOANDAN BINAANSIM

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Stephen Npoandan Binaansim is dedicated to an apostolic mission: reaching, winning, reviving, and discipling youth for Jesus Christ. He holds a Master's degree in Bioinformatics from Covenant University, Nigeria, and a Bachelor's degree in Mathematics from Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology (KNUST), Ghana. He is currently pursuing a PhD in Artificial Intelligence in Biomedical Innovations at the University of Edinburgh, United Kingdom.

With extensive experience in Christian leadership, Stephen has ministered to the youth at various levels. His past roles include serving as Postgraduate Student Chaplain at Covenant University, Nigeria, and Hostels Coordinator at Campus Christian Family, KNUST. Currently, he serves as a Minister in the Apostolic Office at Apostolic Great Commission Church in Ghana. He is also the Founder of Student Prayer Altar Cry (SPAC), an interdenominational student prayer movement for tertiary schools in Ghana. Stephen is happily married to the wife of his youth, Esther Nboraki Binaansim.

ABOUT THE BOOK

Many marriages and relationships today face unprecedented challenges. Despite the abundance of resources on the subject, many in the younger generation have drifted away from God's guidance and wisdom concerning marriage. This book offers a timely response, redirecting this generation to God's principles for building strong relationships. Written by a young author who passionately understands the challenges young people face in relationships, this book provides spiritual insight and practical guidance for building godly relationships and strong, Christ-centred families.
